

PURPLE DISCO MACHINE

“Cosmotropia Live Tour 2027”

Purple Disco Machine announces major live tour across Europe for Autumn 2027.

Following the hugely successful 2024/2025 Paradise Tour, which brought his first ever live show to rapturous audiences across the globe - culminating in a sold-out hometown finale for more than 12,000 fans in Dresden - Purple Disco Machine is now announcing the next chapter.

In Autumn 2027, the Grammy Award-winning producer will embark on the “Cosmotropia Live Tour”, bringing his latest live show to stages across Europe in support of his new album, accompanied once more by his band, vocalists and dancers.

This fourth studio album, “COSMOTROPIA”, set for release on 30 April 2027, takes his established sound to a new level. Rooted in the cosmic disco and space-rock sounds of the 1970s and 1980s, the album draws influences from Pink Floyd, The Alan Parsons Project, Jean-Michel Jarre, Vangelis and Kraftwerk, alongside the foundational disco sounds of France, Italy and Germany. Looking back across decades of musical history, “COSMOTROPIA” brings these influences together while remaining unmistakably Purple Disco Machine. Expect this musical world to be delivered in full effect on the tour!

As always with the Dresden uber producer, at its heart is the approach that has long defined his music: creating records that are not only made to be danced to, but that connect with listeners on a deeper level.

With his distinctive blend of disco, house and funk, Purple Disco Machine has established a sound that reaches far beyond traditional genre boundaries. From his beginnings in Dresden's club scene to international success, he has become one of the leading figures in modern disco music.

With over three billion streams, five Diamond Awards and a Grammy Award for his remix of Lizzo's “About Damn Time”, Purple Disco Machine has established himself as one of the most recognisable producers in his genre. Global hits including “Hypnotized”, “Dopamine” and “Substitution”, alongside remixes for Dua Lipa, Elton John, Lady Gaga and Mark Ronson, have established his signature sound worldwide.

The “Cosmotropia Live Tour 2027” will bring Purple Disco Machine’s new musical chapter to stages across major venues in Europe next Autumn.
